PROPOSAL SUBMITTED TO THE PRINCIPAL

It is earnestly felt that Empowerment of the Faculty Members through participation in Refresher / Orientation / Short Term Courses / Workshops / Training Programmes / Professional Development Programmes / Capacity Building Programmes hosted by the Academic Staff College, UGC/ Universities/ MoE through face – to – face / Virtual / Massive Online Open Learning Courses is of utmost importance to both the stakeholders and of intrinsic value for a good accreditation score. This entails expenditure towards Registration / Participation Fees, which so far has been borne by the Faculty on their own account.

NAAC has mandated in Criterion 6.3.2 that in every academic Year the Faculty Members should be funded to pursue / participate in the programmes listed above. This particular contribution of the Institution carries a weightage of 8 marks. Further, Criterion 6.3.4 quantifies the Faculty Participation in such Programmes to the tune of 10 marks.

Based on this predicament, we place the following for your benign consideration. We request that a sum of Rs. 2000/- (Rupees Two Thousand only) per staff per Academic Year, be sanctioned to all the Faculty Members on Roll. For the current Academic Year 2020-21, this Policy has to be implemented expeditiously before March 31, 2021.

The state of Indian media today is one of bewildering entanglement. Legacy media has woven for itself a tangled web of silence and noise. Media is, at times, silent, and maintains an eerie still when it comes to issues that need to be spoken aloud and voices that need to be heard. Media, sometimes, is also a drowning noise that screams of profit-driven sensationalism, polarized opinions and framed story-telling. Amidst the silence and the blaring sounds, we have the muffled voices on the online space that struggle to be heard.

These are complicated times. The media ecosystem in keeping with the Darwinian ethos of survival in a complicated world is evolving. Ideology has become one of the key drivers for media coverage and content. Media discourse is fluent in rhetoric that purports narratives of power, polarization and marginalization. These narratives dominate the public sphere and the fluid thought processes of the vast public mindspace. It is these narratives that shape our perspectives, our worldview. We perceive the world through media stories that transform our very core and the ideology that we live and breathe.

The Changing Frontiers and Spaces in Indian Media: A Systematic Review of Literature

Dr. C. Sriram

Indian media has witnessed an immense growth and this expansion does lead to greater democratic participation and better audience engagement. The advent of digital media has changed all aspects of communication and the role of social media in daily news discourses is widely recognized. In this paper, the researcher explores the current academic corpus on Indian news media and the real state of affairs. The narrative literature review method proposed by Green, Johnson, and Adams (2006) was employed as the method for this article. Appropriate papers were selected by a Google Scholar search using the keywords 'Indian media', 'Social media landscape in India', 'Digital India news' and 'News coverage by Indian media'. The broad aim of the present paper was to explore the current academic literature in the field of Indian media and news propagation. The indications from the review showcase that the propagation of news by Indian media has changed through the years. The article argues that the digital transformation of news media plays a crucial ideological role in news propagation in India, a role which is rendered more effective because of a strong synergy between its substance and style. Also, future research in Indian journalism studies should focus on fake news propagation and news authenticity.

KEYWORDS: Digital media, narrative literature review, fake news propagation and news authenticity.

Abstract: Consistent free convection stream of a viscous and incompressible stream over a vertical cone submerged in a stable thermally stratified medium is theoretically studied. The non-dimensional administering condition partial differential conditions with the limit conditions diminish to ordinary differential condition with appropriate corresponding conditions. The Runge-Kutta shooting strategy is utilized to be understood the non-linear ordinary differential equations. The impacts of prandtl number and stratification parameter on the velocity and temperature profiles on the stream and heat move qualities have been resolved and introduced graphically.

Key words: Natural convection, stratified medium, Group Method, Vertical cone

INTRODUCTION

Free convection streams under effect of gravitational force have been investigated most extensively considering the way that they as frequently as conceivable occur in nature similarly as in science and building applications. Right when a warmed surface is in contact with the fluid, the outcome of temperature contrast causes gentility power, which starts the basic convection. Temperature definition occurs in shut holder and natural chambers with warmed dividers. Thermally division is critical in lakes, streams, sea, condensers of power plants and distinctive mechanical units. The climate itself is thermally isolated, much the same as the ocean. This sort of stream is moreover of fundamental critical due to its possible application in warmth exchanger contraptions, filtration and oil stores. Various assessments have been made from the past forty years for the free convection stream from various counts in thermally isolated medium. Moran and Gaggioli[2] discussed for tumbling by one the measure of non-subordinate elements in specific plans which contain, in far and wide, of a ton of mostly differential condition and a ton of assistant condition. Moran and Gaggioli[1] have presented closeness assessments of a particular plan of fragmented differential conditions and auxiliarty conditions for a class of compressible breaking point Layer streams. Yang et al. [3] inspected trademark convection heat move from a non-isothermal vertical level plate soaked in a warm isolated medium and comparability plans have been accomplished for a wide rang of divider and incorporating temperature scattering for a vide assessments of the prandtl number some place in the scope of 0.1 and 20. Further, Venkatachala et al.[4] sloved the all out game plan of directing fragmentary differential conditions for the issue of an isothermal divider in straightly portrayed atmosphere using the restricted differentiation system. Kulkarni et al. [5] analyzed the issue of normal convection from an isothermal level plate suspended in a stable straightly characterized fluid medium using the Von-Karman-pohlhausen important strategy. Touchy normal convection stream over a vertical level plate introduced in a characterized medium has been thought by Tripathi and Nath [7]. Gorla[6] separated as far as possible Layer fluid in the locale of a two-dimentional stagnation point and Angirasa and Srinivasan [8] and limit layer conditions were perceived using an unequivocal restricted differentiation system. Later Srinivasan and Angirasa [9] examined the wobbly laminar axisymmetric tufts that ooze from a wellspring of joined softness as a result of simultaneous warmth and mass dispersal in thermally characterized medium and clarified the breaking point layer condition using an express restricted differentiation technique. Takhar et al.[10] presented an examination on the reliable trademark convection limit layer stream over a steadily moving

Dear Sir/Madam,

This is a confirmation mail regarding your fee payment for the One Week online FDP starting from 18th August 2020.

Please follow the below steps (step by step) to join the Telegram group in which further instructions will be given to you regarding this FDP:

1. Download and Install the Telegram app from the play store/app store on your mobile device. If you already have the TELEGRAM app installed, follow step 2. Please download the ABOVE APP ONLY.
2. Once the app has been installed, click on this link https://t.me/ict_moocs to join the workshop group. This link is for TELEGRAM ONLY and not any other app.

Since there are many participants who will be joining the group, we have limited the communication to be made by the ADMIN only. And this is the reason for using TELEGRAM instead of WHATSAPP.

Please Note: From now onwards, all communication related to this FDP will be shared in the Telegram group ONLY. So, it is necessary for ALL participants to join this group to obtain information regarding enrolling in the FDP.

Regards,

FDP, Organizing Team

The Conference...

"Pathology of Employee Relation is attitudinal" this was the observation made by one of the renowned Judges of the Supreme Court known for some of his very path breaking judgements in Labour Matters. People are both Rational and Emotional and in building Relation too much reliance on Labour Enactments by the Stake holders can influence compliance but cannot inspire Commitment.

Since Labour being a Concurrent Subject, thanks to the efforts and Initiatives of both Central and different State Governments we have plethora of Labour Laws providing for Rights and Entitlements of the Employees. Now attempts are also being made to simplify and codify the Central Laws. But even under the proposed Labour Reforms no serious effort is pursued to align, engage and transform the thinking of the parties beyond the economic issues to meet the contemporary requirements of Business, to improve the Competitiveness and enhance the Organisational Capability.

It is also now evident that Laws can provide only limited focus and transient harmony but higher order cordiality and relation building can be achieved only by mutuality and Mindset Change. This can only drive Passion, Innovation and Initiative which are considered as Higher order of capabilities in the hierarchy of Human Capabilities to sustain and excel in the Competitive environment. Hence Industrial Relation needs to shift focus from Conflict of Interests to Commonality of Interests for the benefits of all Stake holders. Harvard Business Review in one of its Seminal Article after a study has pointed that:

"Fostering positive emotions and making People engaged can be one of the greatest resources of Values for the Organisation to build relations both in good and bad times".

Keeping the emerging reality in mind, the theme for this year has been chosen to understand / Identify the relevant factors to respond effectively to new changes and challenges in managing the future Flexi-work force and focus on the developing the right attitudinal change and mind-set to deliver results. Mere Labour Law reforms will never suffice to handle such workforce and there is a dire need to have the mind set to build Trust and Relationship by providing space for dignity, self respect and ensure fair amount of compensation to the emerging workforce which support the core functions of the production and supply of product and services.

Pre-Conference Workshops-28th February 2019

Workshop 1:

"Introduction to Clinical Supervision as Best Practice"

Workshop Leader: Dr. Phillip Armstrong, Founder & Managing Director of Optimise Potential, Australia

Time: 10:00 am-1:00 pm

Venue: F50 Hall, University of Madras, Chepauk

Mental health workers have been identified as being one of the most vulnerable professions to stress and depression which can lead to burn out. To mitigate this vulnerability all therapists are now strongly urged (in many countries this is now a mandatory requirement) to seek ongoing supervision whilst practicing.

Supervision is now recognized internationally as a separate speciality that requires skills and knowledge of that beyond counselling and psychology. Supervisors are required to undergo specialist training prior to becoming accredited/registered/licensed practitioners.

To ensure continuity beyond geographical borders supervisors need to practice using best practice principles. Counselling, psychology and social work students need to understand the principles and concept of supervision so as they are able to determine the quality of supervision they are being offered.

This workshop will introduce the student as to what Supervision is and best practice principles.

Workshop 2:

"Certificate on Employee Assistance Program - Intermediate"

Workshop Leader: Mr. David Levine, Principal-Global Care Experts, USA & Mr. Amber Alam, VP-Optum International

Time: 2:00 pm-5:00 pm

Venue: F50 Hall, University of Madras, Chepauk

Employee Assistance Programs serve organizations and their employees in multiple ways, ranging from consultation at the strategic level about issues with organization-wide implications to individual assistance to employees and family members experiencing personal difficulties.

The structure and operation of each EAP varies with the structure, functioning, and needs of the organization(s) it serves.

This course will provide you with foundational knowledge of the skills necessary to provide quality employee assistance services to clients, companies and organizations throughout the world.

*Certificate for the International Pre-Conference Workshop on "CERTIFICATE ON EMPLOYEE ASSISTANCE PROGRAM - INTERMEDIATE" will be issued by the Global Care Experts (USA).

ABSTRACT

Chlorococcum humicola, green microalga possess higher concentration of bioactive compounds which includes quercetin, sterol, terpenes, fatty acids and carotenoid showing antimutagenic, antimicrobial, antitumor and chemopreventive effects. However the precise mechanism of anticancer activity of C. humicola remains to be elucidated. In this study aqueous and methanolic extracts of Chlorococcum humicola were tested using human colon carcinoma cell line, HT 29 for its effect on cell viability and growth inhibition by MTT assay. [1] The MTT assay demonstrated that aqueous (AECH), methanolic extract (MECH) of C. humicola and vero cell line inhibited the growth of HT 29 cell line with IC₅₀ value of 50, 15.62 and 125 µg/ml respectively. Hence to find out the mechanism of apoptosis in MECH, western blotting was carried out. Western blot analysis was done to examine the protein expression of Bcl-2 (anti apoptotic), p53 (tumor suppressor), PARP and Bax (pro apoptotic) in MECH treated HT 29 cells. MECH modulated Bcl2/Bax ratio and upregulates p53 and PARP caused apoptosis in HT 29 cells confirmed by immunoblotting results. Once activated caspase-3 cleaves the 116 kDa, death substrate PARP into 85 kDa fragment. The western blotting results suggested that MECH inhibits the growth of HT 29 colon cancer cell lines through mitochondrial (intrinsic) and receptor (extrinsic) mediated apoptosis which may in part explain its anticancer activity.

ABSTRACT

In this study ecofriendly synthesis and characterization of silver nanoparticle using aqueous extract of whole plant Allium fistulosum and its antibacterial efficiency in domestic and waste water and photocatalytic potential were studied. Green synthesis of silver nanoparticle (AgNP) was performed by treating the 5% aqueous plant extract with 1&3 mM concentration of Silver Nitrate at 37°C[1]. AgNP's were characterized by using UV-Visible Spectroscopy, Scanning Electron Microscopy and Fourier Transform Infrared spectroscopy. Silver surface Plasmon resonance (SPR) occurred at 432 and 437 nm for 1mM & 3mM AgNP respectively. The silver nanoparticle sizes range from 66-86 nm. Silver nano particle (1mM) treated with domestic and industrial waste water with different time duration(12hrs, 24hrs, & 72hrs) . In 12hrs AgNP of A.fistulosum exhibited antibacterial effect against Klebsiella pneumoniae in Domestic waste water. In 72 hrs AgNP exhibited antibacterial efficiency against pathogenic bacteria Proteus vulgaris, Shigella dysenteriae and Escherichia coli isolated form industrial waste water. Synthesized silver nano particle has potent photocatalytic dye degradation for Safranin at 43.1% & 44.8% and for methyl orange at 34.6% & 42.3% at 72hours for both 1mM and 3mM of silver nitrate respectively[2].
